BUILDING BRIEFS

A bungalow for A. Yelvington is now in the course of erection on Palmetto street south in the Fuquay subdivision.

Fuquay and Gheen are well along with the work of a large addition on one of the local hotels on Ocean avenue. This job will be completed in less than a month's time.

Fuquay and Gheen have just received the contract for the building of a six room bungalow on the east side of Wild Olive street above Ocean boulevard, Seabreeze, for Mr. and Mrs. Herndon, of Baltimore, Md., who recently arrived to spend the winter here.

ALLANDALE, Dec. 13.—Miss Dorothy Poole and party will occupy for the winter the Aldrich bungalow on Ridgewood avenue, Norwood section. They spent last winter in California but like this section of the country best.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Westall of Winthrop, Mass., are occupying Westcourt one of Cornelius Christy's cottages they expect to remain with us all winter.

The Allandale Improvement association have got down to business, held their second meeting a week ago last Monday night and laid plans for the season's work. The association is now incorporated and in shape to work in the right direction. Next meeting which is a regular meeting will be held next Monday at 7 p. m., and all who have real interest in the welfare of Allandale are requested to attend.

Our first song service was well attended last Sunday evening a number coming from Daytona and Port Orange and left feeling that they had been repaid for coming as the Rev. H. G. Fithian gave a splendid talk. The reverend gentleman speaks to the point so he can be understood. The services are to be held regularly every Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Come and hear something good.

A number of the public spirited citizens have been busy cleaning up not only their own lots and parkage but all along their nearest neighbors that are absent or have the don't care feeling. Forget it and make the place beautiful.

The flag pole that is to be erected on the corner of Ridgewood and Commonwealth is being put in shape to go up and Old Glory will soon fly over Allandale.

The Arnold bungalow is being rushed through. The frame is up and the roof almost ready for the shingles and part of the brick on the sides and if the weather permits will be ready for the family soon after the first of the year. Mr. Arnold has also cleared up Crowell street and grading for the shelling.

We forgot to mention last week a jolly dinner party on Thanksgiving day at the Rikemans. The Rev. H. G. Fithian and wife, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Hicks, A. J. Hicks and the Rikemans set down to a fine twelve-pound gentleman turkey and the "fixings" and in an hour and a half the company set back looking as happy as they felt but the "turk" had a sad and sorrowful look. The bird came from John Yelvington's and was voted the best ever.

Mrs. E. M. Holland of Brooklyn, N. Y., who spent the winter two years ago with the Rikemans, writes that she hopes to be with them this year coming soon after the holidays. Mrs. Arnold will be welcomed by many friends she made here on the last visit.

We are sorry to learn that we are not to have Mrs. Emily Child with us this winter. She writes that she has decided to spend the winter in New York. Her bungalow will no doubt be rented as real nice houses to rent are not plentiful now and we hear of several parties wishing to come to us for the winter. Our most needful thing now is a moderate priced hotel or boarding house. One would pay this year as well as for years to come.

Why Meal Is Enjoyable.

A woman likes to dine with her husband in a restaurant occasionally, so he can't blame her for the cooking.

Monarch Welcomed Death.

Louis XIII, lying on his deathbed, wished that the dauphin, then four and one-half years old, should be christened. When the ceremony had been performed the child was placed upon the king's bed, and his father, wishing to see that his orders had been fulfilled, asked him his name. "My name is Louis XIV," replied the infant terrible. "Not yet, my son, not yet," replied the king; "but pray God it may be soon."

"THE SCARLET OATH"
FEATURE TOMORROW NIGHT
One of the easiest things to say, and one of the most abused remarks in the English language is the expression, "Upon my oath."
Evidently the author in writing "The Scarlet Oath" realized that an ordinary pledge was of little significance in the hour when the real test came. "The Scarlet Oath" is the vow

DISCREET CRULLERS.

CRULLERS are indigestible, no doubt. Much rural dyspepsia is laid to the fact that they form a regular part of the breakfast menu in some districts. But they are probably no more indigestible than much of the pastry that most of us eat occasionally and eaten only occasionally do no particular harm to our digestions. Anyway, those of us who like crullers eat them—with discretion, of course—regardless of consequences.

French crullers are the daintiest form of this delectable trifle. To make them a cupful each of flour and water, a cupful of olive oil or some cooking oil and four eggs are needed. Bring the water and oil to the boiling point and add the flour, all at once, and stir until a smooth mass that leaves the sides of the saucepan results. Remove from fire and stand in a warm place for half an hour, then add one egg at a time, beating two minutes after each addition. Let stand for an hour and then drop by teaspoonfuls into smoking deep fat. Cook light brown and roll in powdered sugar mixed with a little cinnamon.

For Dutch crullers, a more unusual dainty, these ingredients are needed: Two eggs, teaspoonful grated nutmeg, one cupful sugar, one cupful cream, one-quarter teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful baking powder and sufficient flour to mix to a soft dough. Roll out, cut into squares, cut several times in center with jagged iron and fry brown in smoking hot fat.

Plain American crullers are sometimes called doughnuts, but doughnuts are in reality raised bread dough cooked in balls in deep fat. The crullers are made like this: Use a cupful of shortening, add the beaten yolks of two eggs and next the beaten whites; sift together four cupfuls of sifted flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of nutmeg and three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder; add, with a cupful of milk, to the butter, sugar and eggs. Roll in a sheet half an inch thick on a floured board and cut with floured cutter. Fry brown in deep hot fat and drain thoroughly.

Crullers can be made with butter-milk in this way: Cream a cupful of brown sugar and two tablespoonfuls of butter together and add a well beaten egg. Beat and add a cupful of buttermilk and enough flour sifted with a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of baking soda and a teaspoonful of cream of tartar to make a stiff dough. Cut and fry in fat.

of a tremendous organization. Already America, whose gates have been thrown open to the people of the world threatens to close them against its members, and yet few Americans know much if anything about this powerful order.

"The Scarlet Oath" is a tremendous story with a thrill in every scene, not a melodrama, but a love drama with unusual settings and highly exciting episodes that focus your mind on life from a new angle. This picture at the Daytona Friday.

"NANETTE OF THE WILDS," CRYSTAL THEATER FRIDAY

Nanette is one of the chief assistants of her father and his band, who smuggle liquor over the border line between the United States and Canada. The news of the smuggling reaches the mounted police and Constable Jevne is detailed to investigate. Among the gang there is a half-breed named Baptiste who has so infatuated of girl that she is continuously begging him for money and pleading with him to marry her. The half-breed grows more and more sullen until, in a fit of rage, he chokes the girl.

To his surprise, he finds that he has killed her and he dashes panic-stricken from the cabin, leaving her body on the floor. Jevne, riding along, stops at the cabin for a cigarette and discovers the body and some of the illicit liquor. He immediately starts back for headquarters to report the murder and blunders upon the trail taken by Baptiste who, believing that the officer is really pursuing him, shoots him from ambush. Jevne manages to reach a lumber camp and to tell his story before he dies.
Nanette sees the shooting of Jevne and terrorizes Baptiste into confessing to her, but promises to protect him because all the woods people hate the mounted police. No trace of the double murderer being found, the authorities send Constable O'Brien, admittedly the best man in the constabulary, to cover the undertaking. Strangely enough, Nanette and O'Brien are fascinated by each other, though they are mortal enemies by instinct. He finally persuades her to help him, not to find the murderer of Jevne, but the man who strangled the girl that loved him. "Nanette of the Wilds" will be shown at the Crystal tomorrow matinee and night.

To Prevent Broken Flower Pots.

Those who have flower pots on piazza railings know how easily they are knocked off, and both pot and flower broken. All flower pots have a hole in the bottom. By nailing a small-headed nail about three or four inches long on the top of the banisters, over which to slip the pot, all the trouble is ended. They are secure, and strong winds will not blow them off.—Farm and Fireside.

A succession of crests of high pressure extends diagonally across the country from the south Atlantic states to the northwest. The pressure is relatively low along the northern border and over Texas. There were light snows from the lower lake region to the New Jersey coast and over a narrow belt extending from the northern Rockies to Arkansas and rain over Texas and Louisiana.

Temperatures continue well below the general average over most of the country. The freezing line extends from the Carolina coast through central Alabama to north Texas, and frost occurred southward to central Florida. The winds are moderate northerly on the lower Atlantic, shifting to southerly on the middle gulf states. Rain tonight and Friday is indicated for this section.

NOLLE ENTERED IN SPARKMAN CASE

A nolle was entered yesterday afternoon in the case pending in the criminal court of record at Deland against H. C. Sparkman on the charge of criminal libel. The motion was made by Solicitor Hamilton at the request of Arthur E. L. Smith at whose instance the case was started. ### NATIONAL PROHIBITION FAVORABLY REPORTED

MUCH INDUSTRIAL STOCK DUMPED ON MARKET

(The Associated Press.)
 NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Apprehension of the effect of the peace proposals on the earnings of munitions and steel companies caused a literal pouring out of stocks early today and severe breaks. Steel broke four points. Only rails held.

Gossip.

Isn't it funny that your husband, or male office running mate, is always the one to retail the very latest piece of gossip with the remark that it probably started with the women servants and went from thence to the wives, and, "of course, you know what awful gossips women are!"—Exchange.

Next Retort.

A physician passing a stonemason's shop, called out: "Good morning, Mr. Jones. Hard at it, I see. I suppose you finish them as far as 'In memory of' and then wait to see who wants a monument next?" "Well, yes," replied the old man, "unless I hear some one's ill and you're attending them, then I keep right on."

MANY AUTOMOBILES IN STATE THIS YEAR

More visiting automobiles from all parts of the United States have arrived in and passed through Daytona this fall than the early season months of any former year. Hundreds of cars have passed through Daytona from every state between Maine and Minnesota and a few have made the long trip from various parts of Canada. Indications show that thousands more are coming before the end of the season. In spite of some Florida roads the call to auto tourists is greater than ever.

Local garage men believe that all civic organizations should co-operate with business firms and citizens to make Daytona so attractive that tourists will desire to go no farther after seeing the city.

DR. RAYMOND HOWE STILL OCCUPIES HIS BUNGALOW

The announcement recently of the rental of Dr. Raymond Howe's bungalow at the corner of Ridgewood and Third avenues is causing Dr. Howe untold trouble and at the same time demonstrating the thoroughness with which the Daily News is read and the wide scope of its circulation. Only a part of the house was rented and Dr. Howe is still occupying and holding his office in the remaining portion and it is this explanation that is giving Dr. Howe trouble.

A process has been discovered in Austria for extracting from common straw a fibre for spinning resembling jute but costing and weighing less.

SCHOOL CHILDREN MUST ATTEND MEET SATURDAY

A communication has been received from Principal Henry E. Wakefield, of the Seabreeze-Daytona Beach school, that the Friday after Thanksgiving, which was known as a holiday when the custom of former years, must be made up by attending school on Saturday at the earliest possible time. It was the plan of Mr. Wakefield to have his school make up the day at the end of the term. However, the school children will attend next Saturday morning and the lessons as on any school day.

At a special meeting of the Daytona Beach council last night, F. E. Wilcox and J. T. Nelson made the proposition to the council to rent the Kestling pier and casino for the town purchases them for $1,500 per year, for a period of five years. No definite action was taken on the offer.

No Limit to His Luck.

"Smith is a lucky guy, isn't he?" remarked Brown. "He sure is," agreed Jones. "Why, if he tumbled out of an airplane he would fall right through a hospital skylight and on to an operating table."

Oiling the V's on a Lathe.

To keep the V's of the lathe bed oily and in condition, a piece of heavy felt should be glued over the V's on the four wings of the carriage. The felt should be almost saturated with oil each day. As the carriage moves back and forth over the V's, the oil will spread over the surfaces in contact and emery and grit will be prevented from accumulating between the carriage and the lathe bed.—Popular Science Monthly.

Had Something New.

Several of the little boys were showing their new overcoats to their kindergarten teacher. One shy, scantly clad little fellow hung back, listening. When the children seated themselves around the table he slipped into the chair next his teacher. She felt a tug at her dress and looked down. "See," he exclaimed, patting his little gray-clad leg, "you didn't see 'em, but I got some new overcoats."

Laziness.

An officer saw a navy staggering with a load of three railroad ties, while a man following was taking things easily by carrying only one. He asked the latter what it meant, and received the reply: "Oh, he's too lazy to go three times."

How to Prevent Blood Poisoning.

When you have a cut, a scratch, a bruise or any other kind of injury, paint it with iodine. As soon as injured dip a toothpick with cotton rolled on the end of it in the iodine and paint over the wound without washing. The iodine will kill all the germs in the dirt that gets into the wound, while washing only drives the germs farther into the flesh. When painted with iodine, wrap the injured part in a clean cloth for a couple of days.

Needles and Pins.

Bird's Nest on Clock.

A peculiar location for a bird's nest is the top of a schoolroom clock. For the tenth time in as many years a Linnet has built her nest over the clock in a country school in California. The windows are let down from the top to admit the birds, who appear about the same date every year to build their nest.

Do It Yourself.

Remember if you have your mind bent on success that two things are necessary, two things that you must do yourself, that no one can aid you to achieve—mastery of yourself and a clear road to the goal. Hew down your obstructions for yourself. If you have no opportunities, make them!—American Magazine.

Roumania's Salt Deposits.

Huge masses of salt are to be seen in some sections of Roumania, for the salt deposits cover an enormous area, and have a thickness varying from about 600 to 800 feet. At Sarat there is a mountain of salt and steam shovels can be used to load the waiting cars. In other cases electric machines turn out blocks a cubic yard in size, like great pieces of granite.

Skating Is Old Pastime.

Skating, the origin of which is lost in antiquity, was mentioned by a Danish historian in 1134, and English authorities state that in Lincolnshire there was skating even before the twelfth century, the custom having been introduced there from Holland. The Eskimos used bone skates when they were first discovered by the whites, and probably had done so for centuries.

Jack's Misfortune.

Helen was an only child. One day she was playing at having a brother and sister. The brother she called Jack and the sister Dorothy. She took them to the dinner table, having a place for each one, all through the day acting just as though there were real children. She took them into the bathroom to wash their hands. Her mother heard her laughing heartily and went into the bathroom to see what was the matter. "Why," explained little Helen, "Jack fell in the bathtub."

To Clean Paint.

The easiest and quickest way of cleaning paint is to have two pails of water, one cold, to which a tablespoonful of ammonia has been added, and one hot, with the addition of a little ammonia and soap powder. With a soft flannel wash the paint with the soapy water, then rinse with the cold water, using a wash leather instead of the flannel, and wring the leather fairly dry. Paint washed like this dries with a nice polish, which no amount of drying with cloths and using hot water alone will impart.

Spring Love

By ETHEL HOLMES

Poets have sung of love in the spring for centuries. No one ever read a poem of young love in autumn; certainly not in winter. It comes with the budding leaves, and it also comes with propinquity. Place a young girl near a young man on a warm, sunny day in April or May, or the young man near the girl, and love is just as sure to bud in their hearts as leaves on the trees.

It is singular how many different ways this spring disease manifests itself in these youngsters. In many cases one would suppose that they had been seized with an aversion for each other. Sometimes contempt, but never indifference, though there is nothing they attempt to show more than this.

A case in point.

Benny Apherson had reached the age when a boy is especially particular as to his cravat. He was admiring himself in a pier glass upon donning his new spring suit and his first silk hat. Olivia Treadwell had just passed the age when her mother studied the advertisements for bargains in women's apparel. On the very day that Benny put on his "tile" and Olivia donned her first woman's frock they saw each other for the first time. Behind the Treadwell home was a garden, and against the farther end of the garden was the rear of a house into which had recently moved the Apherson family.

On this beautifully bright spring morning Miss Ollie, from the rear drawing room of her home, espied Benny in the rear drawing room of his home admiring before the pier glass his new plaid hat. He bowed to his image, taking off his hat to an imaginary lady, walked past the glass, first showing one side then the other, smirked at himself—or, rather, at the imaginary girl—showed a dignified superiority, indeed, practiced all manner of ways of attracting, even of crushing her. While so engaged he evidently heard some one approaching, for he hurriedly placed the hat on the window sill and passed out of Ollie's sight.

All this Miss Ollie observed, unobserved herself. As soon as the young Apollo disappeared she was seized with a terrible temptation. The gardener was engaged in removing the flowers from the conservatory and placing them in the garden without. Having planted a large number, he watered them with the garden hose and had gone somewhere else, leaving the hose on the ground. There was the shining hat balanced on the window sill, there was the hose and there was the girl. The result was what was to have been expected. The girl went down and out into the garden and began to put more water on the already well watered plants, casting from time to time furtive glances at the rear window in which Apollo had placed his hat. Having satisfied herself that no one was looking, with assumed carelessness she diverted the stream from one flower bed to another, and in doing so the stream struck the hat. It disappeared from view. Unconscious apparently of what she had done, Miss Ollie continued to water the flowers for a few minutes, then dropped the hose and went into the house.

The young lady deceived herself if she thought she was unobserved. Benny from an upper window had caught sight of her in the garden watering the flowers. Now, a girl watering flowers on a bright spring morning, even with a garden hose, is a delectable sight. Benny stood back from the window, far enough to be out of sight, took up a pair of opera glasses and flashed his eyes on Miss Treadwell, seeing every intent in her features as well as if he had been close beside her. When she diverted the stream from the flower beds he saw a look of malicious mischief on her face and wondered. Later, when he went downstairs for his hat and saw it on the floor, its beautiful sheen ruined by a drenching, that look was explained.

If any one had told Benny that his feelings toward his neighbor were not a concentrated desire for revenge, that they were instead the opening of the love bud in his heart, he would have laughed sardonically. While he was gazing on the ruin before him he was trying to think of some method of crushing the perpetrator. No appropriate method occurred to him at the time, and when next he saw Miss Treadwell she was in the garden nipping the flowers to make a bouquet, looking so attractive that he wished he were with her instead of separated from her by a wall and the absence of an acquaintance. He hoped she would look up at him, but since she did not he coughed to attract her attention.

Now, if Miss Ollie had not been already conscious of Mr. Apherson's presence his ruse would have succeeded. Since she was conscious of the fact that he was admiring her, she went on plucking the flowers without manifesting the slightest curiosity in the premises.

This is not a love story. It is simply an exposition of certain apparent inconsistencies pertaining to spring love in spring age. Mr. Apherson made Miss Treadwell's acquaintance, and there was an affair between them, but of the kind usually denominated "puppy love." It was nipped by the young lady's mamma, who packed her off to boarding school. Before she married she experienced several more such affairs, most of them hatched in the spring.

PRESIDENT DAY OF EQUITABLE SOUNDS WASTE WARNING

SAYS CANNOT LONGER VIEW WITH INDIFFERENCE THE GREAT AMERICAN SIN OF EXTRAVAGANCE.

(The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Opening the tenth annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance presidents here today, President W. A. Day of Equitable Life Assurance society sounded a warning against the extraordinary wastefulness of the American people.

"We rejoice that our people may now have many of the good things of life that were denied them in years gone by," he said, "but this nation cannot long wallow in luxuries and prodigality and endure. Is it not a patriotic duty to join, so far as we consistently may, in an effort to assist in checking this destructive tendency?"

"Life insurance officers are public servants in the highest sense of the term," said Mr. Day, "and their trust includes both the management of the insurance business and the savings of a vast army of people."

"I believe the time has come," he continued, "when we should be more assertive in protecting life insurance interests and that we should give greater heed to the factors, public and private that tend to jeopardize or injure these interests."

"As I see it, we cannot longer view with indifference the great modern American sin of extravagance. A well-traveled Hindu is reported to have said in recounting his impressions, that of all the lands he had visited, the United States is the only one where the inside of a slice of bread is eaten and the crust is thrown away. You know it used to be said that the average American home had an atmosphere of uncomplaining frugality in which the mental and moral attributes of our people were firmly knit and invigorated. It is not enough that we teach habits of thrift and saving by soliciting and selling life insurance protection, but an extra and permanent effort might profitably be made to check the extraordinary wastefulness of our people individually and collectively."

"The prosperity of our patrons necessarily interests us for with extravagance comes poverty and increases in policy borrowings and cash surrenders and the loss of insurance protection to numberless families. Extravagance not infrequently leads to excesses that result in ill-health which contributes to the physical deterioration of the race."

"Should we not be more keenly concerned in the remedy for excessive life waste that is going on in this country? Does not our mission and place in the nation's life justify us in undertaking to conserve the lives of the insured and in searching for some consistent way to forward the public health movement? This is not only an altruistic and patriotic purpose, but it is directly related to the reduction of the cost of insurance. The health conservation ideal is gaining supporters, but not as fast as it should. The preservation of human life is the primary duty of civilization and we should do our part in it."

The ladies, about 20 in number, spent the time pleasantly at fancywork and in social conversation. This social gathering comes as a conclusion of the summer meetings of the department.

Pessimist and Optimist.

The habitual pessimist is deservedly without honor even in his own country. The occasional, though deliberate, pessimist, however, may be forgiven his unhappy temper of mind, because in the times we live in he provides a pleasing contrast to the garish hues of thought that prevail. Our thoughts, like our garments and our conduct, are all tinted with the gay lights of an irresponsible optimism that can well endure an occasional dash of somberness if not too violently applied.

ATTENTION! URGENT NEED FOR IMPROVING PHYSICAL PREPAREDNESS BY PEOPLE OF UNITED STATES.
(The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Estimating that 250,000 Americans are annually rejected out of a total of 1,300,000 examined for life insurance, H. H. Hittman, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, urged the need for improving the physical preparedness of the people of the United States.
"The composite physical American looks smooth, pink and healthy," said Mr. Hittman. "He is a good liver (I said it, not he). He hurries. He has no time to waste. The average age at death of the American people is about 45, the median age 45. He is trying, with the aid of the new knowledge and inventions, to crowd the experience of two life-times into one. He is having some success but the strain is telling on him."

"His digestive organs have been given so many new and arduous duties to which they were not trained that they are showing signs of rebellion. He is seriously overstraining his heart, arteries, kidneys, nerves and digestion as their rapidly increasing death rate shows. He could detect and head off these troubles if he would go to his doctor for an occasional examination. He is more than well rounded at the belt and slightly so at the shoulders. Under exertion he is short-winded, due to lack of exercise or a bad heart. His 400 muscles are virtually all soft and weak from lack of use. He is designed as an erect, outdoor animal with feet and legs for service, but he lies down by night and sits down by day. He never walks when he can ride. He scurries around at his work, gets tired and nerve-worn and thinks this is physical exercise, whereas his muscles and joints have been virtually idle. And yet he looks smooth, pink and healthy, for the most of the signs of deterioration are not outwardly visible."

"The evil effects of his physical inactivity have been greatly aggravated by his deadly excess and errors in eating and drinking. There is no burden too great for him to put upon his digestive system. He would not think of mixing bricks or scrap iron or gravel with the fuel for the furnace which heats his house, but he does not hesitate to follow this plan in furnishing the fuel for his body. He feeds his stomach with all sorts of tasty junk, much of which cannot be fully digested, and which results in the trouble that comes from auto-intoxication. Auto-intoxication has a fascination for him. He seems to think it is some automatic way of getting pleasure. Slowly the fact is sinking in that his accumulation of fat is due to the excessive use of meats, sugar, butter, sweets, cream and other rich, fat and oily foods—minus exercise. With every pound he gains of excess fat, his chances for a shortened life increase. He should note the insurance records which show that with those, above age 40, having fifteen to eighty pounds overweight, the excess death rate ranges from 9 per cent to 75 per cent above the average of all policy-holders combined."

"With these statistical and other facts before us, it seems reasonable to assume that the power of our people to resist fatigue and the physical stress of modern civilization is declining rather than advancing. It is probably true that when our ancestors left the trees for the caves, if they did, they had a high mortality experience until adjusted to their new living conditions. It may develop that the same will be true of our change from physical active lives, chiefly outdoors, to physically inactive lives in the caves and pigeonholes of our modern dwelling places. But wholly aside from the question of declining national vitality, surely there can be no doubt as to the urgent need of improving the physical preparedness of our people for the protection of the state and of posterity."

Natural Reasoning.
Ruth lived in the country. On awakening one cold morning she asked for a drink of water, and her mamma told her she would have to wait awhile, for the pump had frozen during the night. She then asked for a drink of milk, and upon being told there was no milk either quickly replied: "What's the matter, did the cow freeze up, too?"

Poets' Praise of Ale.
More poets have been inspired in modern times by Brassenose ale, brewed at Brasenose college, Oxford, than by any other malt liquor of recent memory. At one time it was a custom for the college butler on every Tuesday to present a collection of ale-praising verse to the principal and receive a sum of money. Several of these outpourings, the writing of undergraduates, have appeared in book form.

Wonderful Concoction.
A French-Canadian guide came into camp one day greatly excited. He had a handful of wild cranberries which he exhibited with pride. "You know the M'l cranberries?" he asked the assembled party. "Well, you take the M'l cranberries an' you put him on the fire with plenty of de sug—ob, big lot of de sug—an' you let him cook long time. Then you take him off an' let him cool. An' voila! You have a more better apple sauce than you can make out of de prune!"

INVESTED ASSETS OF AMERICAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES EXCEEDS MORE THAN $2,000,000,000.
(The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The United States, with less than a fifteenth of the population of the earth, now has more life insurance in force than exists in all the rest of the world put together, according to original statistics presented today at the tenth annual meeting of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. Alfred Hurrell, associate general solicitor of the Prudential Insurance company, presented the figures and said:

"The very magnitude of the figures compels attention and respect. They not only record the results of a great business as a business, but they sketch with accuracy a picture of the moral activities of our people in comforting relief to the oft-repeated charges of materialism and selfishness made against them. There is in force in the United States on residents therein at the present time over twenty-two billion dollars of legal reserve life insurance. In contrast with this, the insurance in force on the lives of the people of Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Switzerland, Russia, Austria-Hungary, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, Japan, Australia, New Zealand and Chile, and the last available statistics, was less than sixteen and one-half billions. Estimating liberally the insurance carried in countries not enumerated it is apparent that the United States has more life insurance than is in force elsewhere on the globe. At the end of 1915, the actual insurance carried in American life insurance companies was twenty-two billion, seven hundred million, but some of this is carried on citizens of foreign countries. In the ten years from 1905 to 1915 the insurance in force in American companies increased just short of ten billions of dollars. The increase now is at the rate of over a billion of insurance a year."

"The per capita insurance in force at the end of 1905 in this country was $153. At the end of last year it was $227. In 1905 in England it was $103 and at the end of 1915 it was $162. Germany's per capita in 1905 was $43, in 1914 it was $60. France only increased its per capita from $19 in 1905 to $31 in 1912; Italy has $6 in 1903 and by 1914 this had increased to but $7 per person. So it is seen that compared with the other principal nations not only is our per capita much higher but it had a steady annual increase over those countries in the years preceding the outbreak of the war."

Referring to the invested assets of the American life insurance companies now amounting to more than five billion dollars, and to their potentiality in peace and in war, Mr. Hurrell said:

"The American life insurance companies which hold in trust for their policyholders the vast sums above stated, constitute an affirmative element of first importance if our preparedness as a nation should be put to test. That this would be so is seen from the experience in Europe where months ago it was said the war loans of the belligerent nations then exceeded thirty billion dollars, one-tenth of which it is estimated, had been subscribed by the life and other insurance institutions of the countries involved and at good interest rates. In this way will policyholders in America

STREET RAILWAY TIES APPEAR IN GOOD CONDITION

On the representation of the road engineers that many of the ties of the Central of Florida railway were in worthless condition, Michael Sholtz, president of the company secured a track laying gang of the Florida East Coast railway to replace such ties as were needed. The gang commenced work this morning under the supervision of Foreman Williams and a number of the worst looking ties have today been removed. It seems, however, that all the ties that have been pointed out as objectionable are only decayed on the surface and the hearts of the ties are as sound as possible. Foreman Williams says it is really throwing money away to remove the ties; that the Flagler System would not remove ties in like condition and 120-ton locomotives are run over such tracks, where only light-weight street cars traverse the tracks on Beach street. Mr. Sholtz expresses himself as ready and willing to do everything possible to hurry along the completion of Beach street but, at the same time, he feels that the demands of the contractors are placing his company to a useless expenditure of money.

CHRISTMAS VANDALS AT ANNUAL WORK

TOWN OF HOLLY HILL DETERMINED TO PUT A STOP TO THE DESTRUCTION OF ITS HOLLY TREES.
 The town of Holly Hill, which acquired its name from the number of holly trees within the territory, is undergoing its annual fight to prevent the destruction of these trees by thoughtless or heedless persons bent on getting the bright red berries for Christmas decorations.
 In past years many trees have been stripped of their branches or ruthlessly laid low with the ax to secure the berries, and during the holiday season the residents of Holly Hill are in constant fear of the loss in this manner of trees which they value highly, these Christmas vandals entering private property as well as raiding the streets of the town in search of the holly. The trespassing is sometimes done by small boys who gather the holly for sale, but it is even more common to find automobile parties cutting and slashing the trees and filling their cars with the branches, apparently oblivious to the rights of others in the premises or heedless of those rights.
 This year the town of Holly Hill has had warning placards printed for the purpose of posting the town, notifying all persons that the cutting of holly is strictly forbidden and the ordinance prohibiting the cutting or defacing of trees on streets and avenues will be rigidly enforced. It is the purpose of the town authorities, if necessary to stop these depredations, to employ special police during this period and arrest all persons found cutting holly.

WARD ON THE STREETS

A. A. Wood, vice president of the merchants bank of this city and cashier of the Valencia County bank of Del Rio, is a Daytona visitor today from the county seat.

Green sale of untrimmed velvet and felt hats. Choice of any on the counter, $1.00. M. Ella DeVoy. 11-31

Mrs. Ella Tappin and daughter, Mrs. Ernest Dab, returned Wednesday from Cleveland, Ohio, to which place they had accompanied the remains of Mr. Tappin, who died in this city the latter part of November. Mrs. Tappin and Mrs. Dab, who is from Buffalo, N. Y., will spend the season here as guests at Schmidt's hotel.

Mrs. Margaret Koons Hazlet and son, Leonard, and a friend of the latter, Clarence Kobel, arrived Tuesday evening from Chickahimny, Penn., and are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Barnett at their home, Koons' Villa, on 11th street. Mrs. Hazlet is Mr. Koons' mother and may remain here for the season, while Mr. Koons' brother and Mr. Kobel, who are south on a vacation, will be here for only about two weeks.

The work of remodeling and enlarging the J. H. Johnson cottage on Rowland place is well under way. Mrs. Johnson is herself directing the alterations and improvements being made in the cottage, Mr. Johnson being incapacitated by illness and a patient at Dr. Bohannon's hospital, as was recently noted in the News.

Education in Travel.

Travel is not only great fun, but it is also an education—for the person with the seeing eye. There are a lot of folks who go to places and never seem to gather any good from it. "None so blind as he who will not see."

China's Population.

About 95 per cent of the population of China is confined to one-third of the area of the country, with a density of 200 to the square mile. Five per cent of the population inhabits 65 per cent of the area, with a density of ten to the square mile. Lack of transportation facilities and inadequate means of protection account for the sparseness of settlement in the outlying dependencies.

SUN BROTHERS' SHOW IN DAYTONA JAN. 5

WELL KNOWN TENTED SHOWS TO VISIT THE CITY WITH MANY NEW ATTRACTIONS, FRIDAY JANUARY 5.

W. H. Hoskins, advance agent of the Sun Brothers' World's Progressive shows, was a visitor to Daytona today for the purpose of placing advertising and making other arrangements for the coming of the show on January 5, of the new year.

This popular tented show has visited Daytona in former years and comes again in 1917 greatly augmented in size, having a practically new line of acts and performances in all its departments. The only recognizable quality coming through from past seasons is Sun Brothers' adherence to their former policy of never allowing gamblers, confidence men, fortune tellers, dancing girl shows, or anything of a dishonest or immoral nature to have a place in its shows. On the other hand many novel exhibitions have been added to the various performances, several of the best of which are given outside the tents, free to the public.

Among the new attractions offered this year is the introduction of Herr Klotz's herd of dancing elephants, which give some truly marvelous exhibitions of skill in training. Another feature is "Tango Bill," the $10,000 horse, which also appears at every performance under the instruction of Mlle. Kelland, the well known New York horse woman.

Exhibiting at Daytona on Friday, January 5, the Sun Brothers show will present an unabridged and complete performance in the afternoon and at night.

Those "Good Fellows."

The "good fellow" always seems to be a better fellow away from home than when about the house.

Where It Was Needed.

My young nephew and a neighbor's boy were discussing what they wanted to be when they grew up to be men. My nephew, who has a dog that snaps at the children, said: "I want to be a lion tamer." The neighbor's boy in a disgusted tone of voice said: "Better start on your dog first."—Chicago Tribune.

Mission Stain.

One of the best and cheapest stains for mission furniture can easily be made by mixing black asphaltum with turpentine. Any desired brown shade can be obtained by varying the amount of turpentine. Apply the mixture to the work with a brush. After it has been on a minute, rub it dry with a clean cloth or cotton waste. It will dry quickly and leave a dull mission finish.—Popular Science Monthly.

Really Not His Fault.

The family were going to a picnic and Howard had been dressed first and told to sit on the porch until the rest were ready. Soon after his mother discovered him playing in the dirt with his clean clothes hopelessly ruined. After the painful scene which followed he was deposited forcibly on a chair and asked if he did not remember he had been told to stay on the porch and keep clean. "Yes," he sobbed, "but why didn't you tell somebody to watch me?"

A SUGGESTION.

To the People of Daytona:

If any of you have a teacher-friend not living in Daytona, but teaching in Florida, won't you please drop them a personal line or a Christmas card asking them to support Daytona in her invitation extended to the teachers of the state at the Florida State Teachers' association meeting to be held in Arcadia the last of this month? If you have not a teacher-friend, write to some other friend and ask him to see the teachers of his town in behalf of Daytona. We all want the state convention next year. I believe the scheme mentioned here will help wonderfully. I know that West Palm Beach and Orlando are already in the race, and doubtless there will be others. This means an interesting contest, but "the more the merrier." A long—strong—altogether-pull and the biggest convention in Florida will land in Daytona in 1917. Do not lay this article aside without giving it serious consideration; write that letter.

H. CLAY MARKS, Supervising Principal, Daytona Public Schools.

C. M. PUTNAM ARRIVES FOR SUMMER IN NEW YORK CITY

C. M. Putnam, of the A. J. Putnam real estate firm, arrived Tuesday from Port Henry, N. Y., after making the trip south by auto in less than a week. He was accompanied by R. F. Pierce and chauffeur, the pair bringing two automobiles, a Packard and a Packard twin six. Good roads were found nearly all of the way. Mr. Putnam believes that the present winter will prove a good one every way.
